

Crystal Senter-Brown

Author, Speaker, Screenwriter, Poet, Teacher

ABOUT THE BOOK GABBY SATURDAY

It's Saturday, do you know what that means? It means Gabby gets to wear her yellow dress and put away her jeans!

Gabby's mother is taking her on an adventure...to the science museum! Gabby Saturday follows Gabby and her mother as they walk to the bus stop, arrive at the science museum, and share a picnic lunch on the museum lawn. Gabby Saturday teaches:

- Curiosity about new things/ adventures
- Recycle/ Re-use (caring for the earth)
- The importance of helping out at home.

Books are available for wholesale purchase at $4.50 per copy (not including shipping) at www.gabbysaturday.com.

ABOUT CRYSTAL

Crystal Senter-Brown is an adjunct professor at Bay Path University and has been featured in Redbook Magazine, Vibe Magazine and Essence Magazine. Born in Morristown, TN to a bass-playing Baptist preacher (Dad) and a visual artist (Mom), Crystal performed her first poem onstage at the age of six. Crystal is the recipient of several awards including the 2015 100 Women of Color, the 2014 25 Women to Watch, and a 2014 Massachusetts Fellowship in Poetry. She is the author of five books: But Now I See, But You Have Such a Pretty Face, Doubledutch, Gabby Saturday and The Rhythm in Blue, which will be released as a full-length movie in 2016. She is currently working on the follow-up book to Gabby Saturday, (Daddy Saturday) and Pause- Daily Devotions for Busy Women.

Crystal is available to lead workshops for schools and summer programs.

Topics include:

Author appearance/ reading of Gabby Saturday (Grades Pre-K-2) Includes hands-on activity and Q & A.

So You Want to be an Author? A 1-hour workshop to teach the basics of bringing a book from concept to publication. Each student will leave with a completed book cover. (Grades 2-5)

What is Poetry? 1-hour workshop on the basics of poetry, includes a mini-poetry reading (Grades 2-5)

View other workshop options at www.crystalsenterbrown.com

